The white Bull Terrier is a muscular and active dog that has a head shaped like an egg in side view. This breed was created by crossing the Old English Bulldog and the Old English Terrier. Its nose is black and its eyes are close set and shaped like triangles. Most are around 20-22 inches tall at the shoulder and weigh between 35 and 70 pounds. The breed is friendly, courageous, intelligent and stubborn with an average lifespan of 12 years.
